

You can enjoy the security of knowing that when your power goes out, that a permanent generator installation will automatically respond within seconds to keep your lights on, your refrigerators chilling and your HVAC equipment humming. We'll even include whole-home surge protection with our installation so your home's electronic equipment will be protected.

When storms hit and your power goes out you can still respond and protect your home with a Kohler portable gas generator. Just place it outside your home and run the power cord to the transfer switch that we will install next to your service panel. Then, start up the generator and the transfer switch will take care of the rest. You'll have your power back in a few minutes.
